6. What claims does the lawsuit make against the Defendants?

The Vitamin C Antitrust lawsuit claims that Defendants conspired to fix, raise, maintain, or stabilize prices of vitamin C and overcharged customers who purchased vitamin C. The vitamin C manufacturers deny they did anything wrong or illegal. The Chinese government has advised the Court that the Companies were required by that Government to engage in the challenged conduct as part of its sovereign regulation of the Chinese economy. The Court has already determined, in a Memorandum Decision and Order dated September 6, 2011, that the Defendants were not required to fix prices by the Chinese government.

7. Why are there Settlements?

Two additional Defendants, Weisheng/CPG and NEPG, have agreed to Settlements. Weisheng/CPG have agreed to Settlements with the Direct Purchaser Damages Class and the Injunction Class. NEPG has agreed to Settlements with the Injunction Class and the Indirect Purchaser Damages Class. Aland previously agreed to Settlements with each of the three Classes.

The Defendants have denied all liability in this lawsuit and have presented various defenses to the Plaintiffs' claims.

8. Where was this lawsuit filed?

United States District Court for the Eastern District of New York.

9. What do the Settlements provide?

Direct Purchaser Damages Class: Weisheng and CPG will pay $22.5 million to the Direct Purchaser Damages Class.

Indirect Purchaser Damages Class: NEPG will pay $500,000 to the Indirect Purchaser Damages Class.

Injunction Class: NEPG will pay $500,000 towards the cost of attorneys' fees and costs incurred on behalf of pursuing claims of the Injunction Class. NEPG, Weisheng, CPG, and Aland promise the Injunction Class that they will comply with any injunction the Court may enter against any other Defendant.

10. What are the attorney fees?

Class Counsel will ask the Court for up to 35% of the $22.5 million Direct Purchaser Damages Class Settlement Fund and up to 33% of the $500,000 Indirect Purchaser Damages Class Settlement Fund for attorneys' fees, plus expenses. In addition, Class Counsel will ask the Court to approve the $500,000 that NEPG agreed to pay towards the fees and expenses of the Injunction Class. You won't have to pay these fees and expenses personally. If the Court grants Class Counsel's request, the fees and expenses would be deducted from the appropriate Settlement Fund.

If Class Counsel later gets more money or benefits for the Class, they may ask the Court for additional fees and expenses, which would be either deducted from any money obtained or paid separately by the Defendants.

11. Do I have to pay attorneys' fees directly?

No.

12. Have the Settlements been finally approved by the Court?

The Court held a Fairness Hearing and has already approved the Aland Settlements. The next Fairness Hearing will be held with regard to the NEPG, Weisheng and CPG Settlements. The Fairness Hearing is scheduled to be held on October 2, 2013 at 10:00 a.m. in Courtroom 8D South at Cadman Plaza East, Brooklyn, New York
